DHSS Works Collaboratively Across Departments

Reorganizing DHSS will improve communication and services across State of Alaska services.

Department of Corrections

- Coordination with behavioral health services
- Child welfare and juvenile justice supports

Department of Education

- Early childhood development
- After school program and public health grants

Department of Public Safety

- Crisis stabilization
- Child welfare and vulnerable adults
- Background check unit

Because the work of DHSS touches the lives of all Alaskans, we collaborate with other state departments and partners across many programs – in sometimes surprising ways.

The Benefits of Reorganization

Improved Services for Alaskans

- Service navigation will be easier for the public with two smaller departments
- Innovation will become more seamless as two departments will be better able to pursue initiatives and efficiencies to serve Alaskans
- Smaller bureaucracy for the public to navigate
- Easier for the legislature to oversee
- Successful department reorganizations have happened in the past
- DHSS is always changing to better serve the public

Improved Stakeholder Results

- More regular checks in with stakeholder groups
- More interaction with federal partners to better manage programs and seek flexibilities that benefit Alaska
- Better ability to manage crises and focus effort on long-range, strategic planning

Improved Employee Experience

The problem: DHSS areas of concern are often large, complex and difficult to solve

- Inability to see change as a result of your work can result in staff burnout
- Not being able to interact with department leadership can lead to programs not getting the attention they deserve
- Without the ability to focus on long-range planning, issues with the most immediate deadlines get priority, but are not necessarily the most important

Improved Employee Experience

The solution: Two smaller departments will allow for an improved work environment

- A greater ability to focus more comprehensively on issues to affect change
- Improved communication between staff and department leadership
- Each division's priorities and concerns can be addressed more proactively
- Divisions within DOH and DFCS will continue to work closely together

Why an Executive Order?

Use of an EO is the proper Governor's authority for administrative changes under Article III, Section 23 of the Alaska Constitution

The governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration.

Why Not Legislation?

- This is not substantive law change
- More certainty on programs remaining unchanged
- Definitive timeline
- Executive Order is a more concise document
- Less disruptive

Executive Orders

Used over the years to realign state agencies to better serve the public.

- EO 108 moved the Alaska Pioneer Homes and regulation of child-care facilities to DHSS (2003).
- EO 55 created the Department of Corrections, moving the duties from DHSS (1984).
- EO has been used by many Governors Egan, Sheffield, Murkowski, Walker, (etc.)

Timeline for the Executive Order

- Executive Order 121 was introduced the first day of session January 18, 2022.
- The legislature has 60 days to come together in a joint session to disapprove the reorganization.
- Upon approval, DHSS will continue to implementation plans.
- Effective Date: July 1, 2022

What's Different about this EO?

- Additional time for employees, stakeholders, and constituents who utilize DHSS services to ask questions and be familiar with the change.
- Improved planning for the transition to two departments and continued stakeholder engagement regarding the transition.
- Concerns addressed that were raised by Legislative Legal and prior drafting errors corrected.
- Shorter Document.
- Another year into responding to COVID-19 has made it even more apparent that we must move forward with changes.

DHSS met with dozens of stakeholder groups that provide direct services or advocacy to discuss the proposal, address their concerns, and listen.

Advisory Board 12/13/2021

This is just a sampling of groups DHSS has engaged with, additional organizations were contacted.

Stakeholder Engagement: Lessons Learned

Information gathered from stakeholder engagement has been vital in the development of the new EO and transition plans for the reorganization.

After discussions with our Tribal partners, the department has identified the need to designate Tribal liaison roles in the Commissioner's office of both new departments. These Tribal liaisons will actively work with Tribal governments to coordinate services and prevent any disruption in services from the department reorganization.

Stakeholder Engagement: Lessons Learned

- Meaningful engagement takes time: Leadership needs to spend more time with both internal and external stakeholders
- Stakeholders recommended transition liaison positions in each commissioner's offices
- Q and A from stakeholders provided valuable input which will be utilized in the implementation process
- Repeated engagement ensures better communication and dispels misinformation

DHSS Reorganization

Overview FAQ's Resources Town Hall Meetings

Governor Dunleavy will introduce a new Executive Order (EO) on the first day of the 2022 legislative session to restructure the Department of Health and Social Services (DHSS) into two departments.

Restructuring DHSS into two departments allows for better alignment of mission sets and the time and space to work with providers, beneficiaries and federal partners to improve the system of care. The state is committed to ensuring continuity of services to beneficiaries and timely payments to providers. Avoiding such disruptions will be each department's highest priority.
