Summer 2022

Dear Friends,

Summer is here and there is a ton going on in the parks for kids, teens, families, and adults to enjoy!

It's the perfect time of year to get out on the water—visit Rock Creek Regional Park or Black Hill Regional Park to rent a canoe, kayak, rowboat or paddleboat. Cool off at the SplashPark or practice your swing at the Mini Golf course at South Germantown Recreational Park, spend a weekend camping at Little Bennett Regional Park, or just grab a blanket and some snacks and have a picnic at your neighborhood park.

This summer we have a new outdoor performing arts series in the parks, Parks Playhouse and Parks Playhouse Junior. Performances take place throughout the summer with live music, comedy, spoken word poetry, theater, and puppet shows featuring local artists!

On June 18, we will mark the birthday of Reverend Josiah Henson and Juneteenth with free admission to the Josiah Henson Museum and Park as well as activities and refreshments.

Wishing you a wonderful summer,

Casey Anderson
Chair, Montgomery County Planning Board
Vice Chair, The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission

SPEAKER SERIES, WORKSHOPS OR DISCUSSIONS

Ground Covers: Great Alternatives to Turf Grass

Kathy Jentz, Editor of Washington Gardener Magazine

Groundcovers are low-growing plants that serve many different purposes in the landscape from limiting weed growth to stabilizing slopes to adding texture to your garden. Maintaining a lawn of turf grass is one of the most expensive and time-consuming uses for your land. Constant mowing, fertilizing, weeding, watering, re-seeding, edging, and aerating not only eat up your resources but can be harsh on the environment. Lawns do not absorb water run-off as well as planting beds, and many of the chemicals used for maintenance are toxic to the nearby streambeds and Chesapeake Bay. Find out more about these beautiful, hard-working plants and the best kinds to use for the mid-Atlantic region. FOBG $10

Creating Photograph Quality with Black Pencils & Watercolor on Drafting Film

Level: Intermediate to advanced (prior botanical art courses required).

Instructor: Alice Tangerini, botanical illustrator and instructor.

Class held in Visitor Center Auditorium with each student at their own table. Fee includes specialized art supplies including Lumograph pencils in 2 grades, drafting film, matte acetate, and Bristol board.*

Working with a combination of Black Lumograph pencils, film leads and watercolor on drafting film, participants will create a drawing of a flower with its stem and adjoining leaves. Students will be provided with cut flowers and color prints of the flowers as subject matter, learning translucent layering to create enhanced depth in botanical subjects and a more realistic appearance. The drawings will begin with a sketch on matte acetate using the color prints for tracing elements of the flower. The graphite layer will be done as a fully rendered drawing of the flower including values with color added in an underlying film layer. The drawing will be refined from observation of the fresh material. The Lumograph pencils have a deep black tonal range so that all the values can be made in the graphite layer. Watercolor is added as a tint in an underlying film layer with some additional back painting and touch ups on its own layer. Color pencils can also be used for additional highlights. This technique is designed to give the drawing the appearance of a hand tinted photograph. FOBG $189

Using Informed Plant Selection to Restore Pollinators and Songbirds

Instructor: Desiree Narango, PhD, conservation biologist

Functional food webs are essential for the successful conservation of ecological communities. In terrestrial systems, food webs are built on a foundation of co-evolved interactions between plants and their consumers. Efforts to restore urban and suburban green space, provide ecosystem services, and combat adverse impacts of development have resulted in widespread tree- and garden- planting efforts. Yet, little attention is given to the importance of plant identity for successfully supporting biodiversity. In this presentation, Dr. Narango will discuss the ecological and evolutionary relationships between plants, pollinators, and songbirds and highlight her recent research demonstrating that particular native plants are crucial for supporting local food webs. She will also share examples where species interaction data can provide quantitative metrics to inform planting guidelines to restore wildlife habitat in shared, living and working landscapes.

Ardillas Voladoras

Las ardillas voladoras de Maryland son preciosas y abundantes en muchas zonas salvajes. Aunque estén activas todo el año, poca gente las ve porque sólo salen en la noche - son nocturnas. BNC estableció una estación de alimentación para que los visitantes puedan observar las ardillas de cerca. El programa empieza en la terraza superior del centro de la naturaleza (Nature Center) 30 minutos después del atardecer (cuando el cielo se oscurece). Si llueve, se cancela el programa. Program presented in Spanish.

Match Play 3.5 Tennis

The 3.5 player has dependable strokes, but still lacks depth, variety, and the ability to alter distance of shots. Lack of confidence might limit the 3.5 player in effective use of lobs, overheads, approach shots, and volleys. This player is more comfortable at net, has improved court awareness, and is developing teamwork in doubles. First half of class focuses on needed drills and skills. Class finishes with a session of supervised match play. Instructor reserves the right to transfer you up or down a level if you are not closely matched in skill level.
