Take Root:

A Community Planting Day for Environmental Equity

MONDAY

January 15
10 a.m. – 1 p.m.

Sam Brown Park
5722 Montana Lane, Vancouver

- Training, gloves, tools, water, snacks and hot drinks provided. Dress for the weather: wear long pants and closed-toe shoes.
- Family-friendly activity—all ages and abilities welcome. Youth under 18 must bring a signed minor consent form. Youth under 13 must have an adult guardian present.

Honor Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s legacy by promoting equal access to restored green space.

Join the City of Vancouver and AmeriCorps members as we plant native trees and plants throughout Sam Brown Park, one of Vancouver's urban natural areas.

The day will open with a conversation about environmental and racial justice led by WSU Vancouver's Julian Ankney, Campus Director of Native American Programs and Desiree Hellegers, Director of the Collective for Social and Environmental Justice.

Advance registration required—space is limited. RSVP today.
